Working with our Online Study Program and Company Website was quite a task. We needed someone who had the right experience to help us add additional test finals and make sure they worked. Jason was very easy to communicate with and was able to complete each task. We had him do a multitude of changes that needed to the site as well. Jason made himself available day and night as it several communications through e-mail to complete everything. With his help, our Online Program and Website function efficiently and have a more professional appearance, resulting in satisfied students and increased business.

My website was recently attacked by malware and needed serious help. Sales were starting to slow so we turned to someone we could trust. Jason's rapid diagnosis was both helpful and accurate. The problem was fixed and sales began to pick up. We've dealt with several web specialists, but we have finally found one that was able to meet our standards. Jason is now our official specialist and manages all web-related issues. He goes above and beyond our high expectations and that is why he is our go-to guy.

Working with Jason was as flawless as I could have hoped for. He was very quick and courteous, and addressed exactly the problem I had without adding any extra bloated code or manipulating my existing code in a way that may have fit his style better. In an age where "everyone" is a web designer, his service was exceedingly professional and I would not hesitate to use him again for future web projects.

I have known and worked with Jason for 2 years. During that time, Jason has solved all problems that I have had with my web site, with innovative modifications to my website, and with programming issues. Our relationship has evolved to the point where I consider him my "go to" guy. He is prompt, accurate, and friendly. I heartily recommend Jason to anyone with a website or software question or problem.

Working with Jason was great. He is direct, easy to reach, responsive, and knowledgeable in his craft. We needed someone to generate dynamic PDFs representing a "print preview" for our online order form. Jason made it happen in just a few days. We will be referring to Jason in the future if we need further web support and we would easily recommend his services to others. His rates are affordable, and what you get for the price is high quality work and response. A very worthwhile investment.

I requested Jason's services for a quick turnaround Javascript project. Jason was professional, knowledgeable, turned the project around quickly, and got it right the first time. His rates were more than reasonable. I'm fortunate to have found him and will definitely retain his services in the future when similar projects arise in my business.
